ORDER:

The NHSRC has recommended to amalgamate the Regional Training Centres, District Training Centres and Indian Institute of Health & Family Welfare (IIHFW), as a single unit under the Director, IIHFW, Hyderabad. At present there are 8 Regional Training Centres functioning as twin units of Male and Female located at Hyderabad, Kurnool, Guntur and Visakhapatnam. As per the recommendations of the NHSRC 8 Regional Training Centres must be designated as co-educational facilities thereby the State will benefit by re-locating 4 Regional Training Centres to other district headquarters for equity and easy accessibility of training facilities. Thereby 8 co-educational Regional Training Centres will physically cater the needs of 3 districts in each Regional Training Centres. Hence 4 co-educational RTCs have to be re-located for equitable district allocations. The re-location will need careful thinking and planning in terms of infrastructure and man-power development. The Regional Training Centres and District Training Centres under the administrative control of the Director, IIHFW, Hyderabad, to the extent of Academic and Training activities. Unified establishment of IIHFW, RTCs and DTTs regarding academic and training activities, would go a long way in effective stepping up of capacity building programmes as well as Human Resource Development in the State, District and Sub-district levels by optimal utilization of the available infrastructure. Therefore, the NHSRC has recommended that 8 co-educational Regional Training Centres may be re-located.

The Government have examined the matter and decided to rename the existing 8 RTCs as co-educational RTCs by re-locating four RTCs to other district headquarters for equity and easy accessibility of training facilities.

The Government hereby change the nomenclature of the Regional Training Centres as co-educational Regional Training Centres by re-locating four RTCs to other district headquarters for equity and easy accessibility of training facilities. These Co-ordinational Regional Training Centres and District Training Centres are placed under the administrative control of the Director, IIHFW, Hyderabad to the extent of academic and training activities. The co-educational Regional Training Centres in the State and their jurisdiction is as follows:

(P.T.O)

Co-Educational Regional Training Centres :

S.No.	Location of co-educational Regional Training Centre (formerly RTCs)	Name of the districts covering Each Co-Educational RTC
1.	Karimnagar ( New )	Adilabad , Nizamabad and Karimnagar
2.	Hyderabad ( Existing )	Rangareddy, Medak and Hyderabad.
3.	Warangal ( New )	Khammam, Nalgonda and Warangal

8.	Visakhapatnam (Existing )	Srikakulam, Vizianagaram and Visakhapatnam

4. The guidelines to the co-educational Regional training Centres are as follows:

(1) The IIHFW is envisaged to take up full responsibility regarding health man-power resource development starting from the Induction Trainings to all Health professionals before they join their respective duties or during the course of their service both at district as well as State level.

(2) These trainings will essentially focus on

- 1) Administrative and Financial up gradation
- 2) Skill up gradation
- 3) Technical up gradation in terms of Public Health, Disease Control, Maternal Health, Child Health, etc.
- 4) Up gradation of Information, Education and Communication skills and BCC.
- 5) Preparation and interpretation of various Health Action Plans including implementation, monitoring and evaluation, etc.

(3) The Regional Training Centers will be responsible for training of Medical Officers, Community Health Officers, MPHEOs, Staff Nurses and will also cover all cadres as per the guidelines issued by the Government from time to time.

(4) The Regional Training Centers, District Training Centers will function under the guidance and supervision of the IIHFW. The Regional Training Centers will also prepare Annual Training Calendars in consultation with the DTTs under the guidance and approval of IIHFW, Hyderabad.

5. The DTTs will be responsible for taking up the Training needs under the Health facilities within the districts such as SBA, ASHA workers, Bio-Medical Waste Management, etc. As the unified establishment of IIHFW, RTCs and DTTs would go a long way in effective stepping up of capacity building programmes as well as Human Resource Development in the state, District and Sub-District levels by optimal utilization of the available infrastructure.

6. The Director, IIH&FW shall take necessary further action accordingly.
